Insight of the Week!

This week we are presenting a WSJ article published on Feb 12, 2023, by Seema Verma who served as administrator CMS between 2017-21. Briefly, Ms. Verma is presenting the case for changes that are needed in the Medicare program and specifically for the need to move to value-based care and reimbursement models. She is also presenting the case for more payment transparency from all stakeholders. This is an excellent article and you can read more about it HERE!
