INSIGHT OF THE WEEK

ARTICLE HERE

While the topic of industry-sponsored research is not new, recent events have made this issue even more relevant. This week we are presenting a PRO:CON article and an editorial which were both published (simultaneously) in J Arthroplasty and Anesth & Anagesia. The authors of the PRO:CON article are two orthopedic surgeons and two anesthesiologists. The 4 distinguished authors of this pro-con article have been extensively funded by both federal agencies and industry and combined have published more than 2,500 peer-reviewed full articles.
